

WIND-BREAKING FILTERING LOCKS

The use of coverings, doors and windows with variable filtering sheets and different darkening degree allows good results as shading structures and in terms of air change; consequently they are very interesting in wintertime as well as in summertime.

The solution offered by Rota Guido company meets this requirement successfully, with its two-way opening, i.e. from bottom upwards and vice versa. This feature allows to open partially by using the sheets as wind barriers or shading panels, according to the climatic conditions and the animals' real requirements.
